Hello, Time Travellers!

Don't you love jam? I think I like raspberry best, although I need to do more experiments to be sure. And I don't just mean eating it. Jam is also useful for pouring over Neptune's man-eating bees. It clogs their wings, means they can't fly and gives the bees a tasty, nutritious meal that isn't people.

ONLY IN DOCTOR WHO ADVENTURES

MATT SMITH TALKS ABOUT EPISODE 3 OF SERIES 6, THE CURSE OF THE BLACK SPOT!

"WHAT DO I THINK OF WHEN I THINK ABOUT EPISODE 3? RAIN MACHINES, 'OOH-ARRING', HUGH BONNEVILLE (CAPTAIN AVERY) ON FINE FORM, SCARY SIREN AND BIG SETS!"

CAPTAIN AVERY!

"THE PIRATE EPISODE WAS SUCH FUN TO FILM, BUT WE DID GET REALLY WET!"

FIVE FAST FACTS

1. The episode is based on a real-life English pirate Henry Every sailed the seas in the 1690s!
2. Her beautiful singing was dubbed over the top of crashing their ships!
3. It may look like this episode was filmed on a huge ship, but it was shot in Cornwall and the hospital is in Cardiff!
4. The actors had to wear full dry suits under their costumes as they got so wet from the water and it was chilly!
5. The hospital set on the Siren's ship took up a whole studio and the beds are all attached to the floor!

LOST WORLDS!

GREAT DESTINATIONS THAT HAVE GONE MISSING...

On Gallifrey, planet of the Time Lords, the leaves of the trees were silver and the skies burned orange. Gallifrey was lost in the Time War.

The Dalek home planet of Skaro had jungles full of metal animals, ice-filled cryvolcanoes and a vast continent called Darren. Well, until the Seventh Doctor blew it up.

Mondas was Earth's twin planet and home to the first Cybermen. But when they tried to conquer Earth in the 1980s, Mondas was destroyed.

The Ninth Doctor took Rose to the far future to watch Earth explode. Humans (and cat-kind) later settled on New Earth, where there's lots of rain and traffic jams.

REGENERATION!

THIS WEEK WE LOOK AT THE REGENERATION OF THE FIRST DOCTOR

WHO IS HE?

Don't be fooled by his age – the First Doctor was strong enough to steal the TARDIS, escape Gallifrey, travel to Earth and fight off the Daleks and the Cybermen for the first time ever!

ONE OF THE FIRST CYBERMEN

HOW HE DIED

Mondas drained a lot of energy from Earth, including the Doctor's life force! Mondas took so much energy, it disintegrated – but by then it was too late.

WHERE HE WAS

The Doctor was on Earth, fighting against the Cybermen's home planet, Mondas. The Cybermen wanted to take energy from Earth for themselves!

LAST WORDS

"AH, YES! THANK YOU. IT'S GOOD. KEEP WARM."

DID YOU KNOW?

No one called the change of Doctors "regeneration" until the Third Doctor's last story, Planet of the Spiders (1974).

ON A HILL ABOVE A GHOST TOWN, EARTH 1908.
Erm, why are we watching this meteor shower from here when we could be seeing it up close in the TARDIS.
Look! It's happening.
Right on time. To the second. Just like it's meant to be!
Because, Pond Two, it's authentic. It's 1908 and this is how everyone would have seen it then.
KABOOM

What are we doing here, Doctor?
What's that?
Right, okay, that wasn't meant to happen.

This place is hideous. It's too hot for little old me!
What? Some aliens invest a lot of time in looking good. I'm going to say hello...

I can't take the heat in this dump. No worries, I'll get a couple of continent-sized air-con convoys and it should be perfect.
Don't run away. We need a little girl talk. Where did you get those boots?
I don't think they make these boots for big, bad, alien bears!
Sounds to me like you're jealous of my radiant divine-ness!
Keep it cool, Roranicus. I've got an idea.

Once this dive has cooled off it will be the perfect dressing room for me, the fairest of them all. Don't you agree?

This is a time to reflect on your behaviour!
Oooh! I feel like I'm melting in this heat!
My make-up is ruined! Everyone will think I'm ugly. Sorry! Sorry! I'm going!
You're not ugly - there's no such thing! But no alien dressing rooms, thank you.

GETTING IT

Everyone enjoys the adventures, the battles, the explosions, the drama and all the fun bits in Doctor Who, but that's not even half the story!

Costumes must always match. If the Doctor's left sleeve is rolled up in one scene, then it stays rolled up in the next – whether that scene is filmed five minutes, five days or even five months later. That's called continuity!

Making a TV series means there's tons of hanging around. It may look like the Doctor's falling through space for just a few seconds, but Matt has to spend loads of time suspended from a wire in front of a screen!

Getting even the smallest detail right is very important. This scene with Cyril is set in 1938 – so his telescope, his clothes and everything we can see, need to look like they're from that year!

RIGHT!

Props can't move around during filming, so someone has to take pictures of where everything is on a set. If a scene needs to be filmed again for any reason, the photos are used to put the props in the right place.

Each episode of Doctor Who takes about 12 days to film. Minus the start and end title sequence, one episode is about 42 minutes long. So that's just three-and-a-half minutes each day! Doesn't seem a lot, does it?!

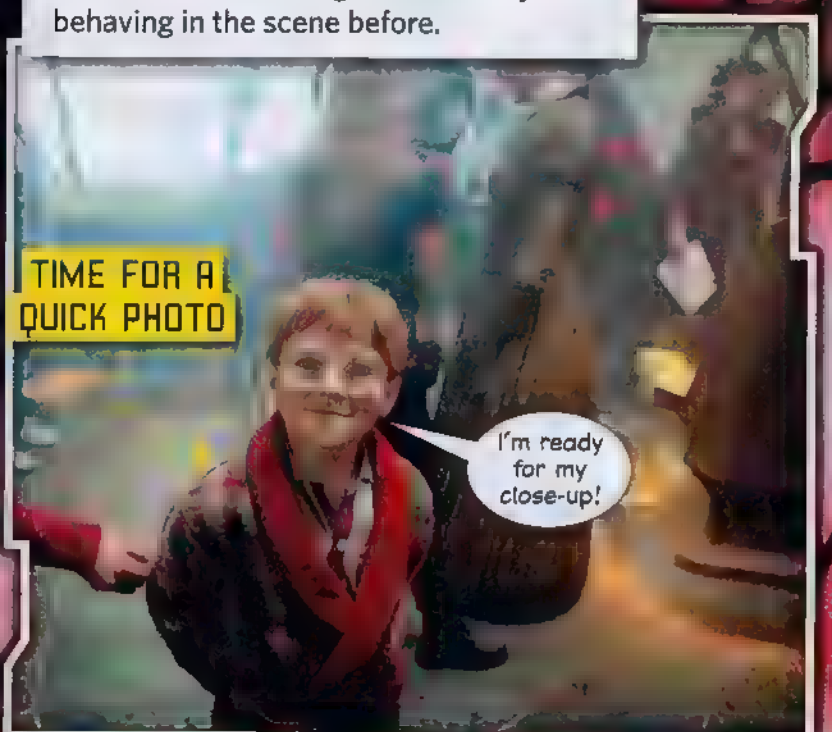
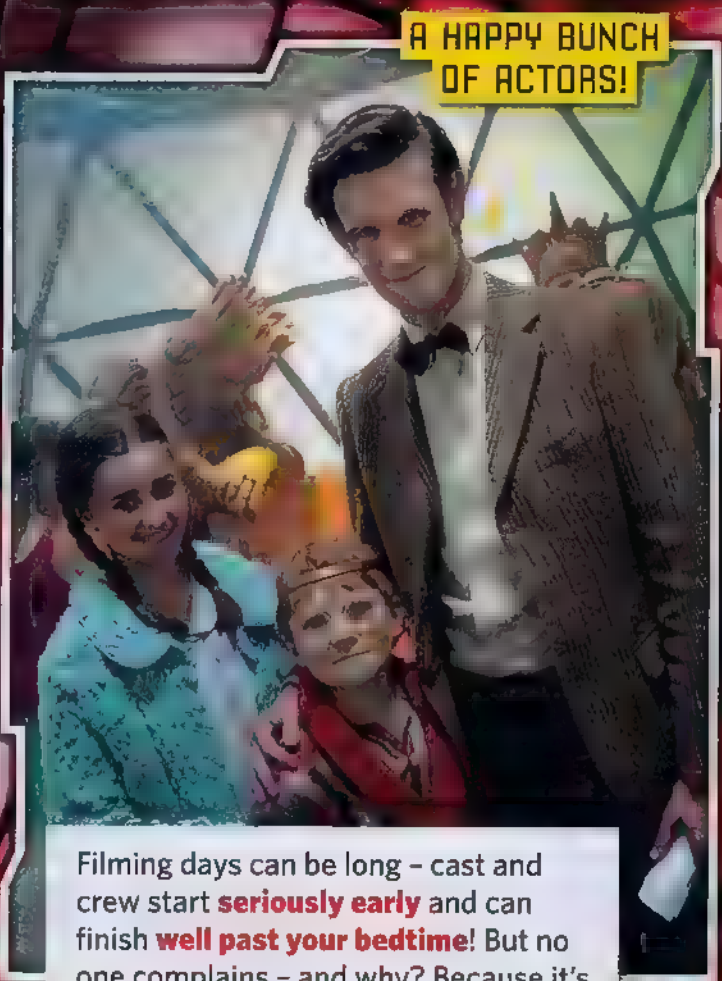
Scenes are not filmed in order. This means that actors need to remember what their characters were doing and how they were behaving in the scene before.



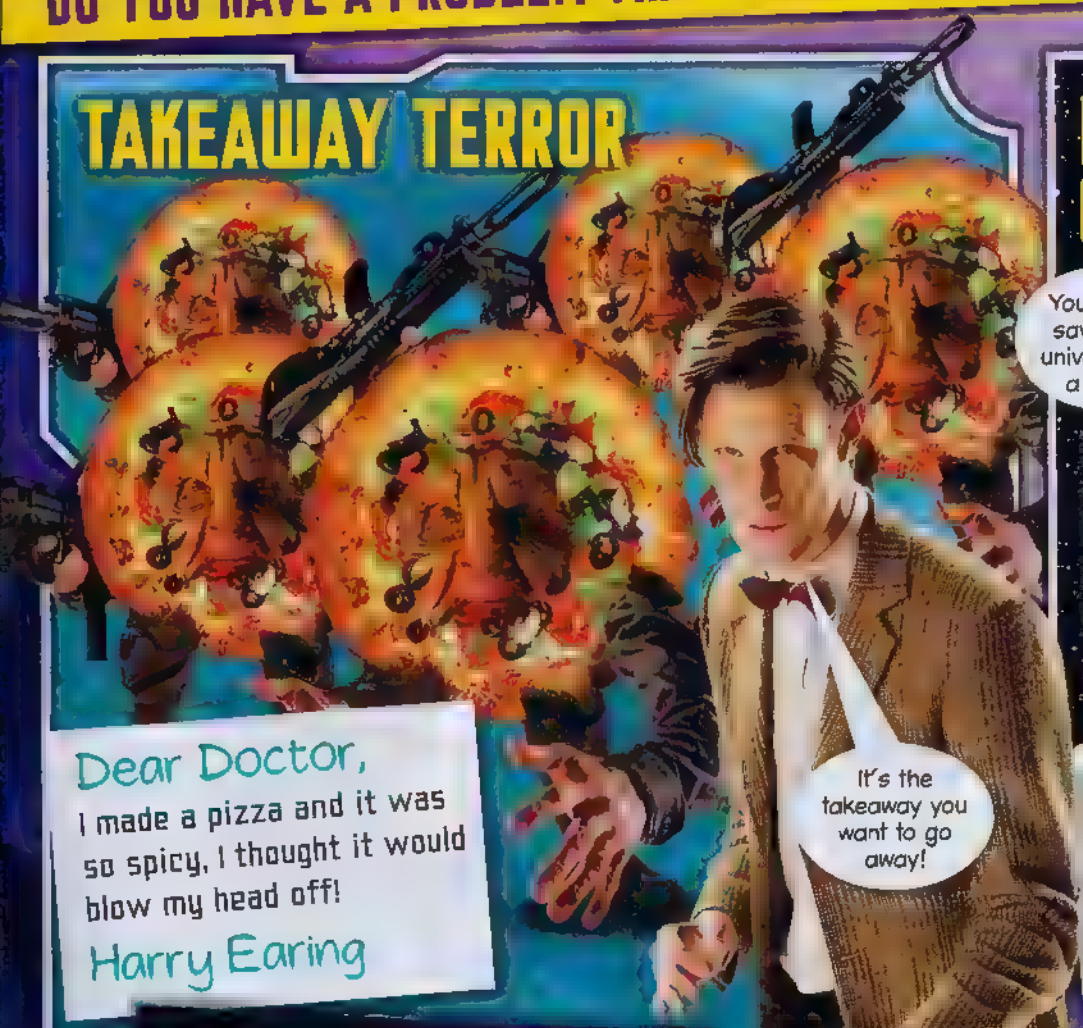


Filming days can be long – cast and crew start seriously early and can finish well past your bedtime! But no one complains – and why? Because it's Doctor Who – the best TV series EVER!

DOCTOR, DOCTOR!

DO YOU HAVE A PROBLEM THAT NEEDS SOLVING? THEN ASK THE DOCTOR!

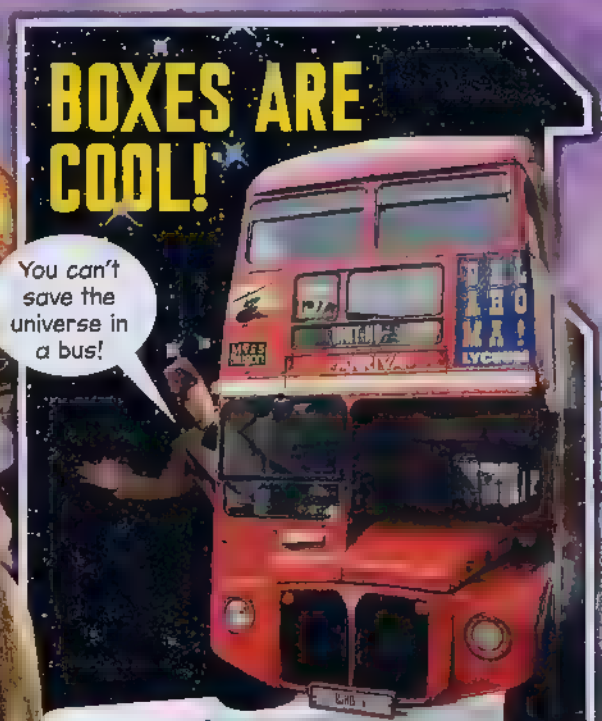
TAKEAWAY TERROR



Dear Doctor,
I made a pizza and it was so spicy, I thought it would blow my head off!
Harry Earing

THE DOCTOR REPLIES:
Most dangerous food in the universe. Give me Weeping Angels or Cybermen or Grovarian Gobblesnurks any day. Especially those evil, stuffed-crust ones. Sneaky hot cheese disguised inside an innocent looking pizza, waiting to burn your unwary mouth the second you take a bite! I'd much rather have a cup of tea and scones with jam and cream, please.

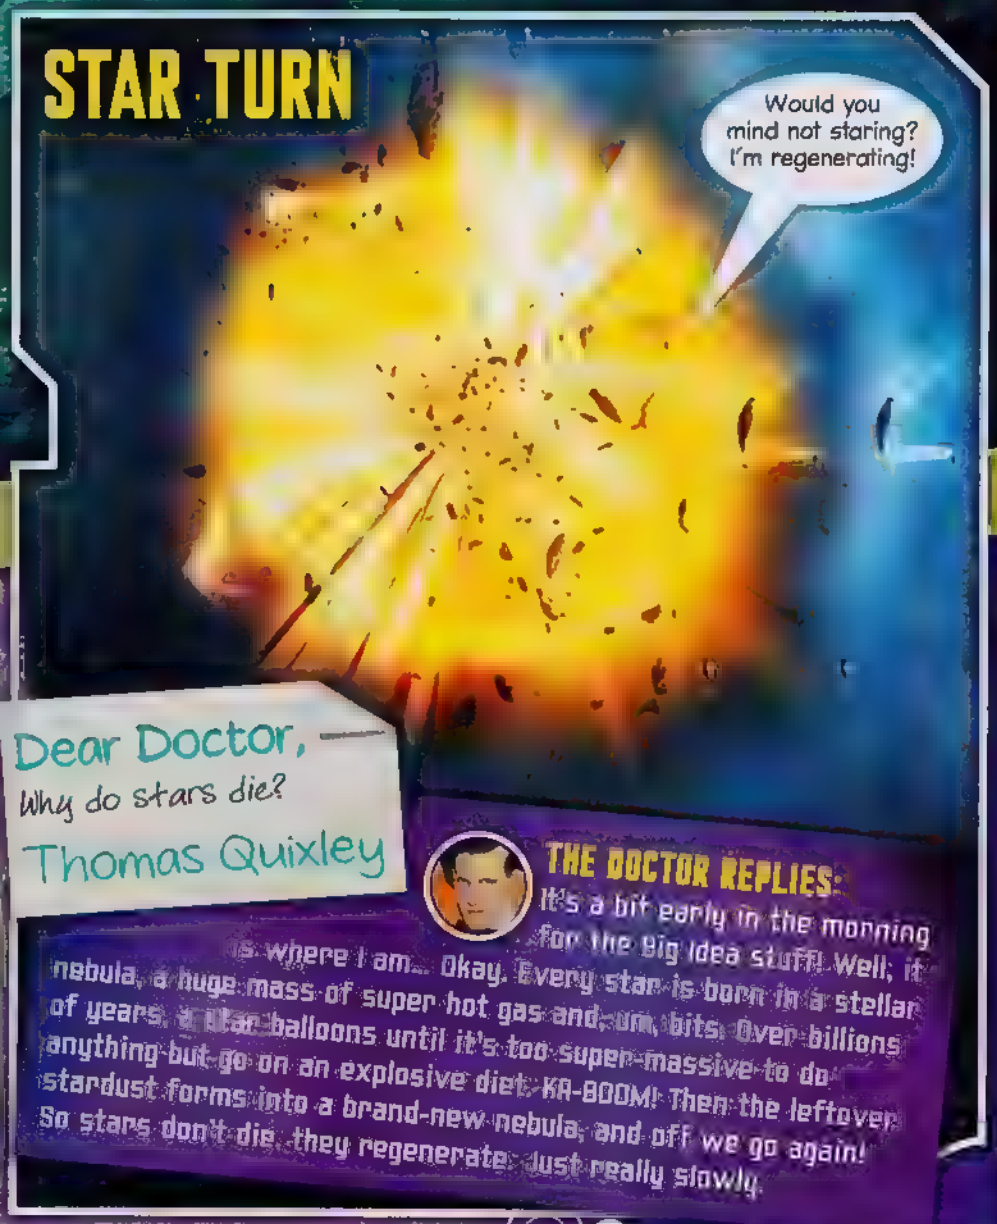
BOXES ARE COOL!



Dear Doctor,
Why do you use a telephone box that flies around? Why not take a bus or a racing car? I would find it easier.
Cody Nollamby

THE DOCTOR REPLIES:
Take the bus? Daleks could be sweeping down the street exterminating shop window dummies left, right and centre, and I'd be stuck in traffic. Sure, a racing car is zippy and makes a big noise, but they have very low ground clearance and no reverse gear, so tricky for parking scenarios. I'll stick with a blue phone box, thanks. Blue boxes are cool.

STAR TURN



Dear Doctor,
Why do stars die?
Thomas Quixley

THE DOCTOR REPLIES:
It's a bit early in the morning for the big idea stuff! Well, it is where I am... Okay. Every star is born in a stellar nebula, a huge mass of super hot gas and, um, bits. Over billions of years, a star balloons until it's too super-massive to do anything but go on an explosive diet. KA-BOOM! Then the leftover stardust forms into a brand-new nebula, and off we go again! So stars don't die, they regenerate. Just really slowly.

KOVARIAN TELLS IT LIKE IT IS!

DEAR MADAME K,
If frozen water is iced water, and frozen cream is iced cream, what is frozen ink? And have you ever kidnapped someone who called you ugly?
Jacob Garston

MADAME K REPLIES:
Interesting question Master Jacob. Join the Silence and I'll give you the answer. And no one has ever called me ugly. Why
